

S P E A K E R B I O

- RASHIEM DONALDSON -

Grey & Grey, PLLC

Rasheim Donaldson is a personal injury attorney at Grey & Grey, PLLC, where he leverages his extensive investigatory and trial experience to secure justice for injured clients.

Rasheim was born and raised in New York City. He received his Bachelor of Arts degree from Lafayette College, Juris Doctor from Wake Forest University Law School, and LLM in Trial Advocacy from Temple University Law School.

Before joining Grey & Grey, Rasheim supervised attorneys who prosecuted a wide range of serious juvenile delinquency cases in Brooklyn. Rasheim received the 2023 New York City Bar Association Municipal Affairs Award for his outstanding achievements with the New York City Law Department.

Prior to joining the Law Department, Rasheim served as an Assistant District Attorney in the Bronx where he investigated and prosecuted a vast array of violent and high-profile cases. He tried several cases to verdict ranging from official misconduct to murder.

Rasheim is active in several bar associations, including the Nassau County Bar Association where he is Vice Chair of the Plaintiff's Personal Injury and Diversity and Inclusion Committees.

Rasheim was appointed to the Board of Governors of the New York State Attorney-Client Fee Dispute Resolution Program by the Presiding Justice of the Appellate Division, First Department, where he is a part of the Board that oversees local arbitration and mediation programs.

Rasheim serves on the Lafayette College Northeast Advisory Council, which supports the strategic initiatives of the College and helps strengthen its standing as a top liberal arts and engineering institution. Rasheim is on the Board of the Nyamwange Foundation, an impactful nonprofit organization that empowers young people by providing educational enrichment, financial literacy, and cultural immersion experiences.

Before becoming a lawyer, Rasheim was a teacher and a program director in New York City. Rasheim is often called upon to deliver speeches, participate in panel discussion presentations, and contribute to bar association committees.

Rasheim enjoys achieving justice for victims, participating in community outreach, mentoring students, and growing professionally. Outside of work, he enjoys spending time with his wife and two young daughters.

GREY & GREY, LLP